ENTERPRISE INVESTMENT SCHEME (EIS)

Investors may become eligible for potential tax benefits available through EIS as long as the investment is held for a minimum of three years, unless otherwise stated:

30% UPFRONT INCOME TAX RELIEF

EIS investors may claim up to 30% income tax relief, provided the qualifying investment is held for at least three years. Investors can claim up to £300,000 for the current tax year and up to £300,000 against their income tax liability for the previous year, as long as the amount of tax relief claimed is not more than the income tax paid.

TAX-FREE GROWTH

If a Deepbridge EIS investment increases in value, there is no capital gains tax (CGT) to be paid.

100% INHERITANCE TAX RELIEF AFTER TWO YEARS

As Deepbridge EIS shares are eligible for business relief (BR), there is no inheritance tax payable if held by the investor for at least two years and they are still held at the time of death.

100% CAPITAL GAINS TAX DEFERRAL

Any taxable capital gain (from thirty six months before an EIS investment or twelve months after) can be invested in an EIS qualifying company and the CGT will be deferred for the duration that investment is held. If the investment is still held when the investor dies the deferred tax is eliminated.

LOSS RELIEF

Although it is hoped that shares in the underlying investee companies within a Deepbridge EIS do not fall in value (Deepbridge EIS portfolios are designed to generate growth, rather than to maximise loss relief), investments can go down as well as up and investors could lose the full amount invested. Losses from individual EIS investments can be mitigated as loss relief is available on each individual holding. So, investors can claim loss relief if shares in one company fall in value, even if the other shares in the investor's EIS portfolio increase in value. Investors can set loss relief against CGT or income tax, depending on which is the most beneficial for their personal circumstances.

DEEPBRIDGE TECHNOLOGY GROWTH EIS

INHERITANCE TAX (IHT)

Inheritance tax (IHT) is potentially payable on any money or assets that an individual leaves behind on death or gifts made in the years before death. The assets and money held by an individual on death is known as their estate. After death, an individuals' estate is usually distributed in accordance with instructions within their will or in accordance with the law if no will is in place. Inheritance tax is charged by the Government on this inheritance. Increasing numbers of people are facing the prospect of having their estate taxed at 40%, over the IHT threshold of £325,000, on their death, depriving their family or beneficiaries of this wealth. If the estate is valued below this threshold it falls within the nil rate band (NRB) and no IHT is payable.

BUSINESS RELIEF

Introduced by the UK government in 1976, Business Relief (formerly known as Business Property Relief) is designed to incentivise individuals to invest in qualifying UK trading businesses. Through Business Relief, an appropriate investment can benefit from 100% relief from inheritance tax after death if the investment is held for a minimum of 2 years and still held on death. Business Relief is considered by HM Revenue & Customs (HMRC) on a case-by-case basis on death.

Business Relief

- Applies after initial holding period of 2 years has expired
- Qualifying shares are deemed outside estate for IHT purposes
- Assets must be held at date of death or transfer.

Replacement Relief

- Applies where Business Relief-qualifying shares are sold and then reinvested in a Business Relief qualifying investment within 3 years
- IHT exemption qualification period is based on both investment periods.

Which companies qualify for business relief?

- Smaller companies that are not listed on the main London Stock Exchange
- Some companies that are listed on the Alternative Investment Market (AIM) or Plus stock exchanges
- Businesses considered to be 'actively trading', and are therefore not just investment companies.

It is worth noting that some businesses, including those that deal in stocks and shares, land or buildings and some specific industries (including resources, mining companies and not-for-profit organisations) do not qualify for Business Relief.

DEEPBRIDGE IHT SERVICE

An opportunity for investors to obtain relief from inheritance tax after only two years, the Deepbridge IHT Service invests in Business Relief qualifying companies that trades in renewable energy generation assets, offering Inheritance Tax exemption after just two years.

INVESTMENT STRATEGY

The Deepbridge IHT Service is designed to deliver a portfolio of Business Relief qualifying renewable energy companies that look to have a high degree of asset-backing, and a business model based on the UK Government subsidies for the generation of renewable energy. The Deepbridge IHT Service has a target priority return of 6% per annum.

Attractive subsidies: The UK Government offers subsidies to the renewable energy sector, including Renewable Obligation Certificates, Feed-in-Tariffs and contracts for differences.

Seeks to avoid planning risk: Investments will be made in projects with all the necessary permissions in place, providing a known cost base for the investment.

Proven technology: The use of proven renewable energy technologies that allow levels of energy production to be forecast with a good level of accuracy.

KEY RISKS

MONEY IS AT RISK

As with any investment, the value of shares can go down as well as up and investors could lose the full amount invested. Investors should be aware that investment in smaller unlisted companies (including (S)EIS and Business Relief qualifying companies) carries with it a high degree of inherent risk whether or not it is done via a diversified portfolio, regardless of any tax advantages which such an investment might carry and/or regardless of any steps taken to attempt to mitigate that risk. Investment in Deepbridge propositions should therefore be considered a high risk investment.

LONG-TERM INVESTMENT

(S)EIS and Business Relief qualifying shares are held in unlisted companies, from which investors might only be able to exit via a refinance or company sale. EIS shares must be held for at least three years in order to qualify for income tax relief. If shares are sold prior to being held for three years, any claimed income tax relief will have to be repaid. EIS investments should therefore be considered as a medium-term or long-term investment and investors are unlikely to have access to their capital during the investment period.

TAX RULES MAY CHANGE

(S)EIS and Business Relief tax reliefs are specific to an individual's circumstances. Tax rules may change and companies may not always be (S)EIS or Business Relief qualifying. If a qualifying company fails to meet the requirements of legislation, tax reliefs may be withdrawn and investors may have to repay rebated tax. HMRC may change the rules on tax relief at any point.

HOW TO APPLY

For further information please refer to the respective Information Memorandum and Investor Agreement.
If in doubt about the suitability of an investment please seek independent financial advice.
Please note that investment objectives may not be met and investors may lose the capital invested.
